PALM BEACH, Fla., – January 16, 2025 – Art Palm Beach, the first and best attended art show of the season in the Palm Beaches, is making history as it becomes a global hub for the art world. With an astounding surge of international galleries signing on, nearly half of the exhibitors at the Palm Beach County Convention Center (January 22-26) now hail from across the globe, including South Korea, Switzerland, Israel, Singapore, the UK, France, Germany, Monaco and beyond. This unprecedented international presence solidifies Art Palm Beach as a major player on the global art scene.

“There is a real energy and excitement among international galleries about Art Palm Beach,” says Kassandra Voyagis, Director of Art Palm Beach. “We’re thrilled to welcome galleries from so many different countries, bringing a truly diverse and exciting range of art and culture to Palm Beach.”

Among the Latest International Additions:

- Galerie Raphael (Frankfurt, Paris) seamlessly connects modern masters like Picasso and Miró with contemporary giants, highlighting the evolution of artistic expression.
- Lee N Bae Gallery (Seoul) is a rare opportunity for East Coast audiences to engage with cutting-edge Korean contemporary art trends. Lee N Bae has only shown in the US on two other occasions.
- Galleria Russo (Rome) will make its first ever appearance in a US art show, bringing with it a 40-year legacy of showcasing both established and emerging Italian artists.

Gallery (Keerbergen, Belgium, London). Art Palm Beach is also excited to announce the return of K & Y Contemporary (Paris). We’re also pleased to welcome local gallery Rosenbaum Contemporary (Palm Beach, Boca Raton), featuring works from Latin America, including stunning photorealistic paintings by Cuban artist Maikel Martinez.
