A key highlight of Day 2 was the visit of students from Dillard High School in the Broward County Public School District, participating in the Athletes for Life™ Foundation program. Founded by former NFL player Greg Bell, this initiative, in its first year at our show, aims to bring art back into schools and provide enriching experiences. The program's Art "n" the School contest winners - Jeremiah Collins (10th grade), Karolyn Bilton (12th grade), and Taylor Cooke (12th grade) - had their work showcased at the fair. Bell's vision of combining athletics with artistic expression came to life as artist Donna Mikkelsen, represented by Ethan Cohen Gallery, provided sketch art classes, offering students hands-on creative experience.

We also hosted an insightful panel discussion on "The Evolving Role of Museums and Art Institutions," moderated by DIVERSEartPB curator Marisa Caichiolo. Participants included Ivonne Ferrer & Milena Martinez Pedrosa, Ceramic Workshop Directors from MOCAA, and Monica Jun & Ara Oshagan, Curators of Culture Nomad Seoul and Glendale Library Arts & Culture.

Pontone Gallery showcases Korean sculptors Hwang Seontae and Choi Soowhan, who explore light and shadow through meticulously crafted lightboxes.
